Nothing is worse than digging through your purse to find a phone number. Leather business card holders can solve this, and many more of your issues. Personalized leather business card holders are not just for the businessman or woman. Consider how many cards you get on a weekly basis. Your friends, doctors, stylists, and acquaintances probably have a business card. For every business card you have there is a case to accompany it. There are various styles to choose from including professional, leisure, horizontal, and vertical. Professional designs include simple colors which are usually a variant of brown, black, gold, or silver. Leisure styles include colors that stand out (i.e. bright yellow) or those with images on them. Business card holders are a universal gift for both men and women. You can buy ones that display the cards vertically or horizontally. Or perhaps buy one for each kind. Nothing is worse than having to try and rotate it while driving. The leather business card holders have a variety of closing mechanisms including a button, magnet, and drawstring. Many of them feature an ID holder to store your own business card. Typical leather business card holders can hold up to 50 cards at one time. Some of them feature different pouches, allowing you to organize them by category, which is sure to please anyone. Some of them even feature flip-out panels to view all of your business cards at one time. Other models offer a simple compact design with metal enclosures. Once you have chosen the leather business card holders you will need to personalize them. Personalization shows to the recipient that you care and are sympathetic. When it comes to engraving you have a variety of options to choose from. You can change the typeface (font), color, engraving location, and type of text. Typically your options are to emboss or use a foil stamp. Embossing is a more permanent solution whereas foil stamps can come off a little easier. Personalize them with either their name or initials on it to show how much they are appreciated. Leather business card holders come in a variety of prices, ranging from $13 to $100 depending on the features you select. Business card holders can reveal a lot about one's personality and work ethic, whether it is a formal holder or a Disney one. It is important to keep your recipient in mind when buying them. Or do they have more candy wrappers in their purse rather than business cards? The advantages of using leather business card holders is that they are gender neutral and can be mass produced easily. You are bound to please everyone with leather business card holders
